

EBACE25: Change is in the Air

As the European Business Aviation Association (EBAA) takes full control of EBACE, the event is entering a new era – one that reflects its continued importance as the leading forum for business aviation across Europe. For organisations focused on navigating the complexities of the European business aviation market, EBACE25 is the must-attend event to drive growth, innovation and sustainability in the industry.

Taking place in Geneva from May 20-22, 2025, EBACE is the annual event where the European business aviation industry comes together. For industry professionals, this is an unrivalled networking event. EBACE brings together the entire ecosystem of European business aviation, offering access to a cross-section of manufacturers, operators, suppliers, and key decision-makers. It's an essential forum for those seeking to strengthen relationships across the supply chain and engage in B2B conversations that will unlock new opportunities.

The EBAA has an exciting vision for the future of EBACE beyond 2025 that is fully aligned to the needs of the industry in Europe. In realising this vision, the organisation is fully committed to listening and implementing changes that ensure EBACE25 reflects the wishes of exhibitors and attendees and acts as a building block for future exhibitions. Based on your feedback, the event will be more streamlined and efficient, delivering a clearer, more relevant experience for all. Something big is coming, and EBACE25 is where the transformation begins.

Furthermore, with the EBAA now in full control of EBACE, the association can reinvest all proceeds back into the industry, amplifying business aviation's voice in Brussels and defending the industry across Europe. By participating in EBACE, exhibitors and attendees not only benefit their own businesses, but also support the future of the industry in Europe by influencing policy and helping to ensure favourable conditions for growth.

EBACE25 is where the future of European business aviation will be shaped. Make sure you join our mailing list and follow our social media channels to stay informed on the latest updates and announcements.
